SPECIAL RESTORATION

LA ROUE Abel Gance

Severin-Mars, Ivy Close, Gabriel de Gravone and Pierre Magnier

La roue is a passionate family saga, reminiscent of a Greek tragedy. Following a train crash, the railway engineer, Sisif (Séverin-Mars) adopts a young orphan (Ivy Close) and raises her alongside his son (Gabriel de Gravone). The children grow up unaware of this adoption. Despite the family's poverty, they are happy until Sisif finds himself attracted to his adopted daughter. Horrified by the love he feels, he is consumed by rage and jealousy...

Drama – silent 413 min – 1923 – 4K

Masterpiece of silent cinema, LA ROUE is a lyrical saga of monumental proportions. Reworked several times by Abel Gance himself, this restored version marks the first time the film resembles its original 1923 release. Exceptional in scope, the restoration process - using Abel Gance's script and Paul Fosse's and Arthur Honegger's original musical cues for the Gaumont-Palace - combines the film negative, various versions screened over the years and also a sepia print. Celebrated for its modernity and audacity, LA ROUE left an indelible stamp on the history of the 7th art and inspired the avant-garde of the 1920s.

SHORT FILMS

Camille LeGrand

L'ASCENSION DU MONT BLANC

L'Ascension du Mont-Blanc is the testimony of the highest peak's climb in Europe at the beginning of the century. This documentary short has also a didactic vocation: the dangers of the mountain, the equipment, the rules of safety, the ropes, the explanatory cards tell how the most experienced ones reach the top. If climbing is no longer an exploit, the mountain is always a danger.

Claude Berri Collection

Claude Berri, actor, screenwriter, dialogue writer, producer, and distributor, remains without a doubt one of the greatest ambassadors of France's seventh art. Claude Berri revealed himself behind the camera, drawing scenes from his own life in his early productions. He is also recognized for his ambitious adaptations of historical and literary frescoes, which include some of the greatest names in French cinema, such as Gérard Depardieu, Yves Montand, Daniel Auteuil, Emmanuelle Béart, Carole Bouquet, Jean-Pierre Marielle, and more...

LE VIEIL HOMME ET L'ENFANT

Michel Simon, Roger Carel, Paul Préboist, Alain Cohen

This was Claude Berri's breakout film. The film takes place during World War II and tells the story of Claude Langmann (Berri's real name), a Jewish child hidden in the home of a retired anti-Semitic couple in the countryside near Grenoble. "Pépé" and "Mémé", played by Michel Simon and Luce Fabiole, are unaware that Claude is Jewish and grow very fond of this cheeky boy played by Alain Cohen, who takes great pleasure in talking to them about Jews. With humor and a subtle hand, Berri reveals how the worst kinds of prejudices can be overcome through human kindness.

Comedy – 84 min – 1967 – 4K

LE POULET

Jacques Marin, Viviane Bourbonneux, Martin Serre

In the suburbs, a child becomes attached to his pet chicken. To prevent his parents from making a meal of the bird, every morning he places an egg near the animal as a ploy to make everyone believe that the chicken is in fact a hen...

MAZEL TOV

Claude Berri, Elisabeth Wiener, Gregoire Aslan

In Claude Berri's second autobiographical film, he describes the Jewish world in which he grew up, focusing on the anguish of marriage. We discover Claude as an old man and as a child who became an adult, played by Berri himself. Elisabeth Wiener costars in the role of Isabelle. When she falls pregnant, both families push Claude to marry her, but paralyzed by a fear of commitment, he falls into the arms of a young Englishwoman.

Comedy – 90 min – 1969 – 2K

LE CINÉMA DE PAPA

Yves Robert, Claude Berri, Alain Cohen

LE CINÉMA DE PAPA is Berri's most personal work. Taking inspiration from his own life, he describes the special relationship he had with his father and his struggles starting out in the world of filmmaking. The father, played by Yves Robert, wants his son to become a furrier like him, while Claude dreams of being an actor. Claude's acting career is slow to take off and his father despairs, while continuing to support him and believe in him. Claude is amazed by his father's originality and imagination and discovers that he is the actor in the family, so he writes a role specially for him. Together, father and son dream of the film they will write, star in, and make together.

Dramatic Comedy – 102 min – 1971 – 4K

SEX-SHOP

Claude Berri, Juliet Berto, Jean-Pierre Marielle, Nathalie Delon

Claude Berri continues the personal theme and stars again in his next film, this time as a bookstore owner who, on the advice of a friend, turns his store into a sex shop. The new store is a great success and Claude soon gets involved in some sexual practices of which he was blissfully ignorant. With this film, Berri takes us on an entertaining and eye-opening trip into the heart of the sex industry in the 1970s, alongside Juliet Berto and Jean-Pierre Marielle.

Comedy – 99 min – 1972 – 2K

LE MÂLE DU SIÈCLE

Claude Berri, Juliet Berto, Hubert Deschamps

LE MALE DU SIECLE was inspired by a news story, resulting in a caustic comedy about relationships and jealousy. It stars the same duo from SEX SHOP, Claude Berri and Juliet Berto. When Isabelle is taken hostage in a bank robbery, her husband insists on taking her place but the robber refuses. Claude then imagines his wife is cheating on him with the criminal.

Dramedy – 90 min – 1975 – 2K

LA PREMIÈRE FOIS

Alain Cohen, Charles Denner, Zorica Lozic

For some years, Claude Berri had been planning to make a film about his adolescence and he was determined Alain Cohen should star, having directed him in his first feature, LE VIEIL HOMME ET L'ENFANT. So, he waited for the boy to grow up a few years before making the film. In it, he recounts his memories of time spent with childhood friends and their first romantic and sexual experiences.

Drama – 80 min – 1976 – 2K

JE VOUS AIME

Catherine Deneuve, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Gérard Depardieu, Serge Gainsbourg, Alain Souchon

One Christmas, Alice brings together all the men who have meant something in her life. She goes back over her past, dwelling on the key moments of how they met, how they loved one another, and how they grew apart. Jean-Louis Trintignant, Alain Souchon, Gérard Depardieu, and Serge Gainsbourg play the exes who Alice loved passionately and then abandoned. Claude Berri later confessed that through the role of Alice, powerfully portrayed by Catherine Deneuve, he tried to understand how we can live our lives in several phases when wishing for one great love.

Dramedy – 98 min – 1980 – 2K

LE MAÎTRE D'ÉCOLE

Coluche, Roland Giraud, Josiane Balasko

In Coluche's second collaboration with Claude Berri, he plays the role of a former clothes seller who decides to become a school teacher. Despite his good will, he realized that the job is nothing like what he'd imagined. Coluche is wonderfully suited to this role, in which he is both funny and generous. He is joined by a cheery gang including Josiane Balasko as the anxious teacher and Roland Giraud, the union man, with absurd comedy throughout. The film also reveals the fragile balance a teacher needs to find between freedom and discipline.

Comedy – 95 min – 1981 – 2K

UN MOMENT D'ÉGAREMENT

Jean-Pierre Marielle, Victor Lanoux, Christine Dejoux, Agnès Soral

Jacques and Pierre are best friends in their 40s, who go on holiday to Saint-Tropez with their 17-year-old daughters, Françoise et Martine. One night, during a midnight swim at the beach, Françoise seduces Pierre, who gives in to his desires for one wild moment. Wracked with guilt about his lifelong friend, Pierre desperately tries to put an end to this idyll. Claude Berri deftly conveys the struggles of a father accepting that his daughter has grown up into a woman.

Dramatic comedy – 85 min – 1977 – 2K

TCHAO PANTIN

Coluche, Richard Anconina, Agnès Soral

This cult film, set in Paris by night, tells the story of two souls who should never have met: Lambert, a mysterious man with a blank gaze, and Bensoussan, a young dealer. From a modest start, they develop a sincere and paternalistic relationship that is suddenly destroyed by Bensoussan's violent death. Lambert is determined to seek revenge but must settle the scores from his past life. Richard Anconina delivers a dazzlingly precise performance, and Coluche excels, playing against type, both winning César awards for their roles.

Drama – 100 min – 1983 – 4K

JEAN DE FLORETTE

Yves Montand, Gérard Depardieu, Daniel Auteuil

In a small village in Provence, Jean de Florette settles on the land he inherited, where he dreams of growing fabulous things. But Ugolin and his father Le Papet also have plans for the land, wanting to grow carnations to make their fortune. Jean de Florette is the first chapter in Claude Berri's famous diptych. Jean de Florette and Manon des Sources, the two volumes of the "Eau des Collines" series by Marcel Pagnol are considered to be two of the greatest stories in 20th century French literature, beloved by Claude Berri. He assembled an exceptional cast to deliver these unforgettable stories to the big screen.

Drama – 115 min – 1986 – 4K

1988 BAFTAS Awards – Best Film, Best Actor in a Supporting Role, Best Adapted Screenplay, Best Cinematography

MANON DES SOURCES

Yves Montand, Emmanuelle Béart, Daniel Auteuil

Ten years have passed since the tragic tale of Jean de Florette. His daughter Manon has become a shepherdess and now lives in the hills where Ugolin, desperately in love with her, spends his time spying on her. Manon discovers the famous spring that feeds the village, and blocks it, finally getting her revenge. Crazy with rage at the lack of water, the villagers no longer hold their tongues and the settlements of old scores begins. Emmanuelle Béart and Daniel Auteuil deliver fabulous performances, each winning a César for their portrayals of Manon and Ugolin.

Drama – 113 min – 1986 – 4K

GERMINAL

Renaud, Judith Henry, Miou-Miou, Gérard Depardieu

Based on the novel GERMINAL by Émile Zola.

Claude Berri was fascinated by Émile Zola's eponymous masterpiece, which tells the story of a violent uprising by miners in a village in the north of France at the end of the 19th century, and this film adaptation is an epic masterpiece. Renaud was perfectly suited to the role of Étienne Lantier, performing alongside some great names from French cinema including Gérard Depardieu, Jean Carmet, Jean-Roger Milo, Laurent Terzieff, Miou-Miou, and Judith Henry. Thousands of extras, including many former miners, along with spectacular sets, and César award-winning photography and costumes made Germinal a spectacular and seminal work.

Drama – 160 min – 1993 – 4K

URANUS

Michel Blanc, Gérard Depardieu, Jean-Pierre Marielle

Based on the novel URANUS by Marcel Aymé.

Uranus is Claude Berri's second incursion into the context of the Second World War. In this film, he describes the tensions in a small French village that is bombed the day after the liberation. Adapted from the eponymous book by Marcel Aymé and driven by an exceptional French cast, this film explores the settling of scores between Resistance fighters, collaborators, Communists, and supporters of Maréchal Pétain. On its release, the film was a critical and commercial success.

Drama – 100 min – 1990 – 2K

LUCIE AUBRAC

Carole Bouquet, Daniel Auteuil

Lucie and Raymond Aubrac were united by love and their commitment to the Resistance, risking their lives on a daily basis. On 21 June 1943, Raymond was arrested in Caluire with Jean Moulin. In this adaptation of Lucie Aubrac's autobiography, Claude Berri reveals the courage, ingenuity, and determination of this young woman fighting to save her husband from the clutches of the Gestapo. It is a magnificent tribute to these two emblematic figures from the French resistance, played with accuracy and emotion by Carole Bouquet and Daniel Auteuil

LA DÉBANDADE

Claude Berri, Fanny Ardant, Claude Brasseur, Alain Chabat

With LA DÉBANDADE, Claude Berri describes a new chapter in the life of his on-screen double, Claude Langmann. Here, he deals with the sexual confusion of a married man, starring alongside Fanny Ardant, Claude Brasseur, Alain Chabat, and François Berléand. Through the character of a 60-something auctioneer seeking miracle cures for his broken libido, Claude Berri has produced an unfiltered self-portrait and a popular comedy about modern society.

Comedy – 90 min – 1999 – 2K

70s-80s FRENCH COMEDIES

Bertrand Blier

LA FEMME DE MON POTE

Isabelle Huppert, Coluche, Thierry Lhermitte
Micky falls in love with Viviane. That would be fine if she weren't his best friend's new girlfriend. Micky tries not to give in, but Viviane tries her best to seduce him.

Comedy - 99 min - 1983 - 2K

Francis Veber

LE JOUET

Pierre Richard, Michel Bouquet, Fabrice Gréco
An out-of-work journalist, François Perrin, lands himself a job at France Hebdo, a newspaper whose director is Pierre Rambal-Cochet. This merciless, billionaire businessman has only one Achilles heel, his 9-year-old son, Eric, for whom his devotion is boundless. Whilst reporting in the field in one of the toy stores owned by Rambal-Cochet, Perrin meets Eric. The boy is amused by Perrin's clumsy attitude and decides to take him on as his toy. In an effort to keep his job at the newspaper, Perrin acquiesces and finds himself whisked away to Rambal-Cochet's home...

Comedy - 94 min - 1976 - 2K

Jean Yanne

DEUX HEURES MOINS LE QUART AVANT JÉSUS-CHRIST

Coluche, Michel Serrault, Jean Yanne

In this Roman colony of North Africa, there are riots everywhere. The proconsul weaves a plot to justify repression. This wasn't a wise move...

Comedy - 109 min - 1982 - 2K

BANZAI Claude Zidi

Coluche, Valérie Mairesse, Didier Kaminka

Michel works for an insurance company specializing in the repatriation of French travelers abroad. Isabelle, his fiancée, plans to leave her job as a stewardess to spend more time with him. Isabelle still has to sneak in a few last flights, while Michel is sent on missions abroad for the first time in his life...

Comedy – 110 min – 1983 – 4K

INSPECTEUR LA BAVURE

Coluche, Gérard Depardieu, Dominique Lavanant

A young cop, who joined the police force to respect his father's last wishes, falls victim to a ruthless mobster. He unwillingly takes part in the kidnapping of a journalist, the daughter of a media tycoon who was accompanying him on a mission. Will he be able to set her free?

Comedy – 100 min – 1980 – 2K

Claude Nuridsany, Marie Pérennou

MICROCOSMOS

MICROCOSMOS stars ants, bees, ladybugs, butterflies, beetles, amorous snails and a world of other insects that often escapes your consciousness. Involving fifteen years of research, two years of equipment design and three years of shooting, MICROCOSMOS is a cinematic feat offering otherworldly cinematography and mesmerizing sensibilities that restores your sense of wonder. Through humour, romance, chivalry, drama and a unique look at entomological eroticism, MICROCOSMOS demonstrates an anthropological metaphor for human evolution.

Documentary – 80 min – 1996 – 2K
